

Kasheer - A Sociology Students Magazine Released

In an attempt to explain critically and empirically the static and dynamic aspects of Kashmiri society with a focus on existing problems and issues, Department of sociology has come out with "Kasheer"-a magazine of the sociology students of the department.

The Head of the department of Sociology Prof B A Dabla released the magazine. Prof Talat Ahmad Vice chancellor Kashmir University is the patron of the magazine and Prof B A Dabla is its editor.

"This is a novel attempt to carry out academic activities related to publications and research for understanding and analyzing the contemporary society in the scientific and sociological framework," said Prof Dabla. Congratulating the faculty and students for their joint effort to initiate and establish the serious academic tradition of studying the Kashmir society sociologically, Prof Dabla hoped that the magazine will help in the academic exercises for continuous systematic and organized growth and expansion of the discipline of sociology. He said that the magazine will go a long in helping in the processes of knowledge growth, independent liberal thinking and realistic understanding of the Kashmir society and pan Indian society at large.

Section first consists of the research articles from noted scholars of sociological studies and another section consists of book reviews, and the third section consists of the review of the field trips and the findings by students. Published by Mehak printers Srinagar the magazine has been priced at Rs 500 for students and Rs 100 for institutions. Pertinently the department already brings out "journal of sociology in Kashmir" which has been well acclaimed in the literary circles in the country and abroad.
